

Some Day, Miss Booth, when you (having become acquainted with my many virtues & merits,) shall come to like me as well as I already like you, & we two shall be a couple of right good friends.
 Then you will say, "I do not value this book because it has worth - since that is questionable but I value it because Mr. C's impulse was kindly & honest & I am satisfied that he would have sent me a much better one if he had been able to write it" (And that will be just as true a thing as you ever said - mark my words!)

Truly Yours
